HARDING DOUBTS BEER BILL COULD WEATHER CONGRESS

MAJORITY, NECESSARY TO CHANGE VOLSTEAD ACT, DOUBTFUL.

Moist and Dry Leaders Present Reasons for Beliefs, Pro and Con.

This is the fifth of a series of seven dispatches written after an exhaustive study of the prohibition question in which President Harding, Prohibition Commissioner Hoover, Assistant Attorney General Wilentz, Wayne H. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon League, Capt. W. H. Stinson of the National Association Opposed to Prohibition and other leaders submitted to private interviews with the writer and gave their candid opinions on law enforcement and the outlook.

Washington. Many people who have no desire whatsoever to see the saloon or hard whiskey come back to legalized sale in America, have wondered why the prohibitionists object to light wine and beer and what are the chances for such a modification of existing law as to permit the sale of beverages of more alcoholic content than one-half of one per cent to be sold.

The question is not a bit complicated. It is simply a question of the only way to determine for yourself what the probable outcome of the proposed change will be to examine the arguments of both sides and make up your own mind which is the more plausible estimate of future American sentiment.

First, examine the platform of Capt. Stinson's organization, in which, by the way, no one who has ever had a financial interest in the liquor business can become a voting member. Here are the main principles:

"Beer and light wine may, but no alcoholic ever."
"As long as the Volstead Amendment and the Volstead Act are in force, the law should be obeyed."
"This far there is absolute agreement between the wet and dry organizations. The Anti-Saloon League has succeeded in winning from the other side the recognition that the saloon was an evil and should not be permitted to come back."

Capt. Stinson's platform.

The two sides begin to diverge when the next principle of the Anti-Saloon League is reached. Prohibition is encountered. It reads as follows: "Meantime, it is the right of all who still believe in real temperance, in self-restraint and in the force of moral suasion to work for the modification of Volsteadism."

The Volstead Act goes too far, further than the federal amendment to conform to, to the Amendment. The liquor traffic should be controlled but should have no place in our Federal Constitution, which ought to contain only the framework of government and the great fundamental principles acknowledged of all men and no longer a subject of controversy."

Capt. Stinson is a mild-mannered man who starts out by denouncing the man who confers with the liquor traffic through their saloons and political methods. He does not in the least consider the "boot-licker" or "other kind of fellows" (Continued from Page 8)

Fisher Body Will Begin Production Early Next Month

Sheet metal workers, tinsmiths and mechanics are striving to complete the assembly of the Fisher Body company in time so that production of car bodies will start soon after March 1. Skilled workmen are building huge canvas spray booths, conveyor trucks with the needed heating and ventilation system.

There are four great ovens in the building, 170 feet long, equipped with tracks for the small trucks, with "air guns" at each end which will keep an endless stream of body parts going through the different ovens and painting processes. Immense pipes of the paint fumes and overhead the ovens will be the heating pipes. Assembly work is to be done in the west end of the plant and as the body parts are made up they start through the spray booths and ovens to come out glistening and ready to be taken into the chassis on the endless chain conveyor line and at the end, come off complete automobiles.

To have force of assembly work March 1, stated A. J. Brandt, manager of the Fisher Body Co. operations here. "The production force will be increased as needed and will be between 450 and 150 car bodies made here daily. This will require a force of about 400 men, according to our present expectations."

WOMEN OF COUNTY NOT BASHFUL ABOUT SERVING ON JURY

Women have recognized the value of jury service, officials of the Rock county circuit court believe. In the three courts over which Judge George Grinn has jurisdiction, the women show a willingness for jury service. The bashfulness evident when women were first called to serve has worn off, and the court officers find them ready and usually willing to serve unless there is some legitimate cause. Most of those on early panels asked to be excused, but seldom does this now occur. They like to sit on juries from the pleasure they find in service and from a point of education, securing an insight into court affairs which many have not gained or would not gain otherwise, court officials declare. As each jury term comes more women are put on the panel and in some instances they have outnumbered those of the opposite sex.

Duroc Sale at Pavilion Tuesday Important Event

Forty-eight head of registered Duroc-Jersey bred sows will be sold at the sixth annual Rock County Duroc Breeders' consignment sale to be held in the county pavilion, Janesville, on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 27. Given good weather and open travel conditions, the county breeders are expecting one of the best sales in Wisconsin this season for exceptional stock has been consigned.

The county sale for any breed association marks an effort of the breeders to sell stock that is representative of the breed. Bred especially in Wisconsin, the Duroc sale is largely made on the results of those county sales, the sale being representative to some extent of what the county has to offer. The consignors to the Duroc sale are as follows:—George Morrison and Son, Evansville, W. C. Scofield, Edgerton, Selk Brothers, Hanover, Henry Wieland and Sons, Beloit, R. K. Nelson and Sons, Clinton, W. E. Albright, J. H. Johnson, Clarence Croft, Charles Manthei and Son, E. H. Parker and Son, P. H. Arnold and Sons, B. W. Little, W. H. Hughes and Son, Harry Dahly and L. A. Ruchel, Janesville.

The consignment is declared to be truly typical of the quality of Rock county Durocs for an effort was made to secure a few animals from many of the growers. The stock represents the best of blood lines both in the matter of pedigree and the ability to stand show ring judging tests.

Many visitors are expected to attend the county sale and state Duroc meeting. Visitors are expected from many northern and central counties and a considerable number from Jefferson, Walworth, Dane and Green counties.

OPINIONS DIFFER ON AUTO LICENSE BILL

Opinions in Janesville differ as to the advisability of a bill introduced in the assembly at Madison by Assemblyman A. G. Deckmann. Attention, providing that persons applying for automobile licenses after July 1, 1923, be required to pay half the normal fee. Some here favor it while others suggest that it would be more practicable to reduce it only 25 per cent after July 1, as July, August and September are the most popular driving months of the year. Still others believe no change in the present law is necessary in view of the fact that those applying for other kinds of licenses get no rebate no matter what time of the year they buy them.

SUGAR SHORTAGE CAUSES NO SCARE

Dealers Believe It Will Be Plentiful Before Demand Jumps.

Sugar remains scarce in the city, but dealers have little fear that what is supplied will come from the sugar market increases to any great extent. When the scarcity was first announced, the request that this commodity be used sparingly seemed to have been very great, and according to some grocers, is even smaller than normal. No attempt has been made to hoard any, as sugar is a staple and will go down instead of up as soon as some of the sugar now held by speculators is released. "It is said that the supply in larger cities is being held by speculators in large warehouses."

No shipments were received all week by local wholesalers. Some stores which had run out of sugar early in the week, or even last week, bought some in Beloit where the supply is more plentiful than it is here, and as a result, almost every grocer in the city can now get out of sugar. Prices are 10 cents per pound in most places, some stores being able to offer it for nine.

With the price of sugar slightly advanced, with butter going up in price, and other eatables showing little change, prospects for a further decrease in the cost of living seem poor now. Prices seem to have reacted to the fact that they may now remain and shifting of prices is becoming less frequent.

Strawberries 50 to 70 cents. Strawberry short-cake is being greeted with joy in several homes, although it is indeed a rare occurrence when snow is heavy on the ground. The strawberries are not yet in the hands of the home-grower, but they are strawberries, and that is enough. Prices asked for them are between 50 and 70 cents per quart box. A few pineapples are in the market, bringing from 20 cents up, but this fruit will not be plentiful until the last of May when the regular season starts. Those now seen are of the mid-winter crop. Mushrooms are among the shop specials this week, several dealers having them and stores being able to get them from their wholesalers. The price ranges from a dollar to $1.25 per pound, and they are of course, a luxury.

Other winter fruits are having their usual demands, oranges perhaps being the most popular. Prices range from 40 to 70 cents per dozen for those from California and from Florida. Lemons are 40 cents per dozen, and the range of prices for grape-fruit is from six for a quarter to 10 and 15 cents each. Apples and bananas are seen at the usual prices.

Variety of Vegetables.

The newer things in the market are green onions, beets and carrots, all at 10 cents a bunch. Broccoli, cauliflower, some larger bunches bringing higher prices; green peppers at 7 1/2 cents each; rhubarb at 18 and 20 cents each.

Says Milton Man Sold Poor Butter

Arrested in Milton, Fred J. Jennings was arraigned in municipal court here, Friday, on a charge of delivering butter containing less than 80 per cent of milk fat content. The complaint was made by J. E. Beethoven, of the state dairy and food commission. He pleaded not guilty and his case was adjourned to March 8. The offense is alleged to have occurred Jan. 25.

Mail was heavy, Friday, and some congestion was caused at the local postoffice because of the holiday enjoyed Thursday. Washington's birthday. Two days' work was done in one, as was the case in the banks, where employees worked over-time to make up for their day off.

The Cookie Girl's Report For Today

I found it pretty cold this morning when I started out to make my calls, but the sun was so bright that it soon warmed up and I had a wonderful day.
Johnston's White Rose Cookies have certainly become well known in Janesville, as my visits revealed today.
The first call I made was on Mrs. W. Wheelock, 264 River St., but she had no cookies, so I stopped at 314 River St. and found no one at home. They were also out at 403 River St. So I went over to Mrs. H. Preuss, 451 Franklin St. and here I found my first cookies.
Mrs. E. J. Gibson, 309 S. Franklin, also had cookies, and as I had more territory I wanted to reach, I left this part of town and went to S. J. Cronin, 426 Eastern Ave. I found no cookies at this home, but a call at B. P. Krahmer, 1020 McKey Blvd., was rewarded. Mrs. C. P. Moody, 1122 McKey Blvd., was without White Rose Cookies. I decided to go in another neighborhood. I found cookies at Mrs. Hewett's, 12 E. State St., again at Mrs. A. M. Ford, 333 N. Chatham St. At Mrs. A. Ensworth, 474 Chatham St. where I called next, I was sorry not to find cookies, but I determined to make one more call anyway, so I selected a white house on a corner. This was Mrs. J. S. Deniet's, 1121 Mineral Pt. Ave. Such a sweet motherly woman answered my ring that I was surely glad to learn that she had Johnston's White Rose cookies in the house.
Everywhere I go they tell me how good these cookies are, and how hard it is to keep the children from eating them before I get there.
Well, I'll be calling again tomorrow, so hang onto your White Rose Cookies or better still, eat them and order more.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Pandora Nichols is so shy that she dreads meeting people and can never find anything to say to them. As a result she makes no friends and feels like an outcast even among her own people. She lives, as a poor relation with her Aunt Maude and Uncle Peter, and their very popular daughter Gladys. All of them have so often she is hopelessly stupid that she believes it.

She does make one friend in the village, Morton Newberry. Because he is kind to her, she becomes passionately grateful, thinks she is in love with him, and when suddenly she decides she wants Morton and goes off and marries him. Soon after, Gloria Gates, a New York woman Pan had met before, sends for her to look after her son, Frankie.

In the city among kinder people, Pan begins to find herself and realizes that she was an outcast before, only because she was superior, rather than inferior to the people she had associated with. She falls in love with George Ridgeway whom she thinks in love with Gloria. Gloria lives in London. Gloria takes a business trip to Europe. Pan and her friends with her. Collins has left London.

THE STRANGER

Pan began packing trunks again—this time full of fascinating new dresses that Gloria had sent her. And time and time and a few modest simple frocks which Pan herself had bought.

"I never thought I'd own a real Paris dress," she said once to Gloria, in an aside. She had a flowered silk possessing the most absurd of chiffon and lace aprons, with equally absurd ribbons that formed straps over the shoulders. She looked at it and altogether charming in it, and Gloria had insisted upon its purchase.

"French clothes are really only for certain types of women," Gloria answered. "I wish more women knew that. You've been well enough trained by me now to buy yourself only the right kind of things that suit you—look how ridiculous I am in this!"

And she slipped the frock over her head and fastened it. Gloria laughed at the result—Gloria with her vivacious and dash was as awkward and out of place in Pan's dress as Pan would have been in one of Gloria's bizarre frocks. Gloria's frocks were much remade for Pan.

They went back to London. George refused to go until he had finished his work in Paris. And Pan, much as she liked the city of wonderful boulevards with its blue sky and hot sunlight on marble buildings, its fascinating shops and light hearted atmosphere, was glad to be where she could understand the language.

They had the same suite of rooms in the same hotel, and Pan, with the aid of her map, had no further trouble in finding her way about.

"It's like coming home," she said, and smiled cheerfully out the window to the rain.

Her companion shivered a little and said nothing.

For two or three days Gloria worked hard, and was almost too tired to go out at night. She was the sort that made friends everywhere; she had come knowing only one or two people in London, now they and their friends in an always increasing circle, deluged her with invitations.

When Pan discovered one thing, Gloria's intense enthusiasm, her extreme vivacity, her occasional recklessness of speech, sometimes amused and sometimes shocked the real English with their great reserve and reserve. Gloria belonged to a cosmopolitan group.

"I nearly made that poor old dear with the sweet voice faint by my antics," Gloria observed after some tea guests had gone. "I walked over every prejudice she had. I'm afraid, particularly when I said and did of onion, two tablespoons melted butter. Mix dry, since the apple juice will moisten the whole. Place the meat in a dripping pan in a hot oven for 10 minutes. Lower the flame, add a small amount of water and bake an hour. Add potatoes and when ready to serve thicken the meat liquor."

Gloria smiled a little.

"Our darling friend was much more urgent in her invitation that you have, lunch at her house. The first time since she had lived with Gloria that she went anywhere socially alone. She found that her enthusiasm about London pleased and flattered them, but as the British, Britisher, still be unacceptably absent—I should go out of town anyway."

So Pan did go to luncheon with the English lady and her family, the first time since she had lived with Gloria that she went anywhere socially alone. She found that her enthusiasm about London pleased and flattered them, but as the British, Britisher, still be unacceptably absent—I should go out of town anyway."

Her visit was a success and did a great deal towards giving her independence and self reliance.

"I'm getting there," she said once. "You've told me that I should find my own sort of people, then I'd find like a wound up machine. My sort exactly; they're too clever and quick, they wouldn't have much use for me, without you around."

Gloria answered:

"You could scarcely find a greater contrast than there is between the people you know in Norfolk City, who are too narrow and intolerant, and that lot at home, who are perhaps too tolerant and unconventional, but who are keen and amusing, as you say. You'll settle finally into an in-between class and be quite happy. You should marry George. He likes the quieter sort. He puts up with my special lot because he thinks I need a restraining influence, and now that you're summed up the whole social system."

Then, as usual, she gave way to her restlessness again.

"I wonder when George comes back. I feel like a wound up machine without a balance wheel when he isn't around. What a state to be in! Pan, we'll sail next week, and I'll finish my work here. I've almost finished my work here."

Someone knocked, and the hotel page entered. He handed Gloria a card. "George!" Gloria said as she reached the card. "They're coming. Show him up," Gloria said.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

DEAR AND—

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married lady and have been married in second time. I have one girl—six years old by my second husband. We have only three rooms, which we furnish ourselves. I like to see nice things in a home, and although I don't have much, what I have is nice and I expect to get more. My daughter is a very disquieting child. She likes to run the house and tells us what to do. When I get through doing all she wants behind and makes work for me. I have whipped her until I have almost had blisters on my hands, but she is just the same. I have come to the point where I am going to make a change, for I am a nervous wreck, scolding and working. No children will play with her. She breaks my best china dishes and does everything the minute my back is turned.

What do you think I ought to do?

I intended getting some expensive furniture in the spring, but dread to think of her scratching it up with her feet. Please tell me if I could board her in the country somewhere reasonably?

PARTICULAR HOUSEKEEPER.

You are the kind of a woman who is not suited to motherhood. Through lack of understanding of your child you are making her disagreeable and more difficult to manage and you are becoming more and more nervous yourself. Your plan to place her in a home where she is wanted seems to be a good one.

It is a debatable question whether or not whippings are a good thing.

Whipping to the point of blistering one's own hands is certainly not a good thing. If you taught the child how to help you, clean and insist that she pick up after herself, it would do more good than to beat her for misbehavior of which she is unconscious. Nudging about every scrap and scratch about the house is an awful lot of things an unfit place to house a child.

Be patient with your child and teach her as a little human being, not as a child in charge of other women who understand and love children.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl

23 years old and am going with a man of 28. He is thinking of getting a position in a distant town and wants me to go there to work if he can get me a position as it would be too far for him to come to see me. Do you think it would be right for me to go?

He says he loves me dearly.

BOBBY.

Don't follow the man when he goes to another town to work. Either let him stay where he is or go away by himself and make good so that he will be able to marry you and take you home. He is asking too much of you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two young girls who have been going "steady" with two young men while in high school. Since the young men have gone away to college their letters have become less and less frequent and we fear they do not love us any more. When they come home for vacation they ask for dates.

Do you think we should try to forget them which seems impossible?

At its annual meeting held in the city hall Thursday afternoon, the Rock County Rural Carriers association elected H. A. Wasson, 727 Milton avenue, this city, president for the coming year. Those other officers, made plans for approaching conventions and meetings and transacted usual business, such as adopting resolutions and discussing various phases of the work. O. H. Thompson was vice president, and William Knipshild, Beloit, secretary-treasurer. H. A. Palmer is the retiring president; H. C. Hungerford, vice president, and R. C. Pontius, secretary-treasurer.

Receipts for the past year amounted to $74. It was reported, and disbursements to $57, $34 of which was for state and national dues. It was the expressed wish of those present to have the annual state meeting held at Madison the middle of July in connection with the law enforcement convention being called there at that time. Following the custom, the president and past president were chosen as first and second delegates. C. C. White, Janesville, was named as third delegate, and J. A. Martin, Edgerton, as fifth.

Ask Various Improvements.
Improvements in the roads, where weeds are allowed to grow, causing mudholes and snowdrifts, and boxes of patrons, were desired, and resolutions asking for several of these things were unanimously adopted. A committee was named to see if the date of the annual meeting could be changed to early in the summer, on some day other than a holiday, and it was decided to hold future meetings on the second floor of the postoffice.

Letters were read from the state president and from Miss Caroline Palmer, daughter of H. A. Palmer, who is now in East Hollywood spending the winter. It is the first meeting she has missed in many years.

RADIO FANS CAN GET SCORES OF U. W. BASKETBALL GAMES

MADISON MAN TALKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

Telling of personal reminiscences when he worked under Marshall Field, Chicago, Harry Manchester, Madison merchant, gave some advice on salesmanship at the Thursday meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Grand hotel.

A committee was appointed to nominate delegates to go to the international convention at Toronto in May. Walter Kohler, vice president, presided in the absence of President Harry Haggart.

The birthday of Frank J. Trevor, was celebrated and Floyd Benjamin was awarded a $10 chair presented by John Cain of Leath's.

TRAIN LATE DUE TO CATALOG SHIPMENT

Train No. 510, Minneapolis to Chicago on the Chicago & North-western railway, via Janesville, was an hour late reaching here Thursday, arriving at 8:55 a. m. The train was late getting out of Minneapolis. It is understood the delay was caused by the loading of seven tons of mail order catalogues. Train No. 534 on the Northwestern, Fond du Lac to Janesville, due here at 7:20 a. m. arrived at 8:20. The delay was caused by waiting to make connections at Fond du Lac.

KAYSER'S ORCHESTRA COMING TO APOLLO

As an added attraction to be seen in connection with the picture "Lorna Doone" at the Apollo for four days starting next Monday, Manager James Zanier has secured Joe Kayser and his famous orchestra, which is now closing an engagement at the Inglaterra, Rockford, to give a special program. The orchestra, of seven or eight pieces, will appear on the stage, playing the latest dance hits. Mr. Kayser himself will appear at the drums. The orchestra is well known to Janesville people, having played here for a number of dances.

BABY BOYS ARE IN MAJORITY, BEARING OUT OLD BELIEF

There is an old theory, often disputed by modern medical authorities, that during the period after a long war or national military strife, the birth rate of males will exceed that of females. Ancient scientists and philosophers believed that more boys would be born after a war to make up for the number of men killed in battle.

Health and hospital records show that in Janesville at least, there have been more boys born than girls. Hospital records show that 18 male babies were born during the last two months and 11 girls.

Reports from physicians show an even more pronounced percentage in favor of boys.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

VOLNEY ATWOOD'S FARM

Editor, Gazette:
I notice in the obituary notice of the late Charles Atwood, you make the statement that his father, Volney Atwood, purchased at an early date, 220 acres of land in the township of Janesville. I think you are mistaken. That land is situated in the township of Harmony, the west half of section 15, and was sold to my father, Jeremiah Atwood, the first of Janesville, in 1850, four years after Volney Atwood purchased the land. (Editor Gazette.)

possession, is dated May 8, 1848. One hundred and twenty acres of this land is still in the family. The east 100 acres were sold to my uncle, M. M. Wilcox, and with the exception of 20 acres, is still in the Wilcox family. The west 100 acres were sold to my mother's cousin, Norris Wilcox, and are still owned by his heirs. Hoping you will pardon me for this bit of ancient history, I am, sincerely yours, MRS. H. N. BETTS.

The Gazette and Mrs. Betts are both right. The town of Harmony was not set off from the town of Janesville until 1850, four years after Volney Atwood purchased the land. (Editor Gazette.)

Protests Against Guard Abolition

Elkhorn—Members of the Harry E. Kelley post of the American Legion took a decided stand against abolition of the Wisconsin National Guard in a resolution which will be transmitted to the legislature. The resolution, passed after strong talks by several members, follows:

"Whereas, the assembly of the state of Wisconsin, in session on the 20th day of February, did pass an act for the abolition of the national guard of said state, and
"Whereas, it is the well considered opinion of the members of the Harry E. Kelley post No. 16, American Legion, that the abolition of such body is detrimental to the best interests of said state, is subversive to the ideals on which our state and national governments were founded and that said National guard is essential to the proper functioning of our state government, and to the execution of its laws; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the governor of Wisconsin, to Hon. F. T. Ridgway, senator; to Hon. Frank B. Lawson, assemblyman; and to the clerks of the senate and assembly of the state of Wisconsin."

Does it spurt out ahead, or do you trail? That quick getaway is one of the reasons why so many discriminating motorists say:

USE SOLITE A PERFECT GASOLINE

Solite is the new light gasoline made by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana); it is made especially for the man who demands a little quicker action and who is willing to pay a little more to get it.

Solite has a perfectly adjusted chain of boiling point fractions. It enables your car to start on the jump—to breeze away quickly. It develops remarkable flexibility and racing speed if you want it. It drives the piston the full stroke under power.

It is a companion to our famous Red Crown, the high grade gasoline that delivers maximum power with economy; in daily use by nearly 2,000,000 motorists.

Was a "Bear Cat"

"My wife was never an angel, but for five years of liver and stomach trouble she became a 'bear cat.' No doctor or medicine helped her and we thought there was no help for her. Our grocer told me of May's Wonderful Remedy, which had helped him for same trouble, so I brought home a bottle, but she promptly threw it out. I got it back and after a week coaxed her into taking it. 'She is now enjoying the best of health and disposition.' It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and thus the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. People's Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.
